

Quetzalkumquatlus

Click & Save!

The lucky Quetzalkumquatlus is one of the Dinassumptions—specifically, the “As If-darchids”. He’s got spotty orange skin that gives him his name, and gleaming gold on his crest, claws and tip of his beak, which he uses to snip at giant hedges, creating his version of bonsai trees, that, since they’re so huge, just look like trees.